

Family Law Lawyers Langley

Family Law Lawyers Langley - For those individuals have recently separated, our company specializes in the dealing with the complex financial issues that can occur. Other family issues that our lawyers could help advise with include adoption, access, child and adult guardianship, estate and trust issues, child and spousal support, property division, and divorce. We also could help create marriage agreements, separation agreements, co-habitation agreements and asset protection agreements.

We tailor our services to reflect our client's particular needs. Our lawyers have ample knowledge both in and out of the court room to ensure that our clients could be represented fairly and efficiently. Other than mediation, negotiation and litigation, our company also provides collaborative law approach. This is a relatively new method that allows family lawyers as well as various professionals, like financial advisors, to come to a settlement without going to court.