

Law Offices in Langley

Law Offices in Langley - Entertainment, Media & Sports law regulates activities within the telecommunication and broadcasting industries. Our firm represents the interests of clients before tribunals and commissions utilizing the multidisciplinary method demanded by this complicated area of law.

Included in our client base are various artists, entertainers and professional athletes. We provide services related to tax planning, contract negotiation, dispute settlement and intellectual property protection.

We work closely along with experts in our Corporate/Commercial, Corporate Finance, Tax and Technology & Communications teams in order to carry out and structure financing arrangements. Our clients consist of producers of motion pictures, theatrical works and television programs. We even advise and represent organizations that are in the process of expanding or acquiring telecommunication networks and cable systems.