

Immigration Law Firms Langley

Immigration Law Firms Langley - Labour problems and legal disputes with employers are challenging and stressful experiences. Our employment lawyers represent clients who are subject to unethical, illegal or unfair labour practices, like for example sexual harassment, discrimination, defamation or wrongful dismissal. Difficulties with an employer are often life changing and emotional events, and our employment law experts are here to help you navigate the complexities of employment law with professionalism and sensitivity.

It is essential that you get in touch with our office if you feel your labour complaint falls within the legal boundaries for unfair labour practices. We can help to determine whether or not your legal rights have been violated. Numerous complaints about labour law are tough to prove; thus, it is vital for you to comprehend your legal rights. Like for example, to legally terminate your employment, employers must have just cause and provide you with reasonable notice. Your employer must offer you a reasonable severance package based on the amount of time that you have worked for the company, your age, and the reason you were terminated. If you believe you have been wrongfully dismissed, get in touch with our employment law lawyers so we could discuss the issue with you. If have been the victim of unfair labour practices, we can act in your best interests in whatever action taken against your previous employer.

There are many various clients that come to our company for help for problems pertaining to severance packages, employment contracts, wrongful dismissal, safety, health and human rights (comprising sexual harassment and discrimination), defamation and worker's compensation. We can assist with any of these legal matters or different challenges that may arise between your employer and you.

Labour laws are complex, and it is essential that you do not face the Labour Board unprepared and alone. Our experienced employment law lawyers understand your rights and would work so as to protect those rights. When litigation is unavoidable, we will aggressively defend your rights throughout legal procedures.