

Divorce Lawyer in Langley

Divorce Lawyer in Langley - Our technology litigators are knowledgeable in an assortment of situations and normally advises developers and users in both the public and private sectors. We specialize in structuring, drafting, implementing and negotiating information technology agreements in addition to offering advice concerning intellectual property law, corporate law, and other related matters. Our client base is diverse, ranging from entrepreneurial, small start-ups to sectors within the government.

Our team is integrated with the other lawyers and professionals in our organization to be able to offer the best possible assistance to our clients. This has enabled our legal teams to specialize in many areas that are relevant to our technology clients.

Our experts have specific specialized industry expertise with vast knowledge and experience in these areas.