

Crown Attorney Langley

Crown Attorney Langley - Our firm represents and advises a wide range of small and large, public and private businesses concerning business concerns. We likewise advise religious corporations and non-profit entities.

We aid clients in the formation of publicly traded and privately held companies, limited partnerships, limited liability companies, sole proprietorships and partnerships. We work closely with clients and their accountants to make certain business transactions are structured in the most tax advantageous way. We think about both short-term income tax considerations and longer-term estate tax implications. In our work with small and large mergers and acquisitions, we think about tax, legal and business implications while structuring acquisitions and de-acquisitions in the manner most advantageous to our client's interests.

We are skilled in structuring equity arrangements, like re-capitalizations, for organizations raising capital. Our aim is to guarantee compliance with applicable laws in association with SEC, securities offerings and state regulatory compliance.

Our services to clients comprise the following: drafting, reviewing and negotiating capital business agreements and various arrangements like joint ventures agreements, sales and manufacturer's representative agreements, licenses, confidentiality and non-competition agreements, employment agreements and distribution agreements. We are expert at preparing and drafting stock options, stock awards and phantom stock arrangements for select workers.

We have experience in assisting family businesses with the transition of ownership to a group of employees or a later generation.
