

Business Lawyer Langley

Business Lawyer Langley - Some of our client include financial institutions, leasing and financing companies, as well as various non-bank lenders. We often help them to document and structure an assortment of loan transactions. Loan transactions might comprise term loans, lines of credit, revolving credit facilities, asset-based loans, subordinated financings, lease financings, real estate development financings and motion picture financings.

Our business clients likewise rely on us to assist them in arranging, negotiating, and acquiring credit facilities.

Public sector financing, along with assistance programs and structures, are really familiar to our attorneys. They have extensive skill regarding industrial revenue bond issuance, industrial development transactions, state and local development agency programs and financings.

Furthermore, our lawyers help lenders and borrowers with loan restructurings and work-outs.